

presents

The Innovation Revolution:
Genetic Testing in Today's Cancer Care

Rapid innovation in genetic testing is producing dramatic changes in care for such cancers as leukemia, colon cancer, and breast cancer. Join us for a discussion about the impact of this innovation on outcomes, side effects and utilization of resources.

Thursday, November 17, 2011

8:00 a.m. Breakfast

8:30 a.m. Program

Longworth House Office Building
Independence Avenue and South Capitol Street SE
Room 1539 (Fifth Floor)

Featuring remarks by

Congressman Michael Burgess (R-Tex.)

Vice Chair of the House Energy and Commerce Health Subcommittee

Congressman Charles Gonzalez (D-Tex.)

Member of the House Energy and Commerce Health Subcommittee

Mara Bloom

Executive Director, Cancer Center, Massachusetts General Hospital

Marc Grodman, MD

President, CEO, Chairman, Bio-Reference Laboratories, Inc.

Bill McGivney

CEO, National Comprehensive Cancer Network

and

Simon Tripp

Sr. Director, Battelle Institute

Kindly RSVP to events@thehill.com or (202) 407-8030

Sponsored by

This event complies with Congressional/ Administration ethics rules.